Dear Mr. Courtney:

I am following up my car purchase with this letter. I have had a second car, a sports car, for most of my adult life. Of course the internet has made it easy to search for anything. I have purchased eight sports cars in the past 20 years over the internet, most sight unseen except for photos and communication with the seller.

I have found, that one persons opinion of a cars condition, can differ from what I rate the car.

When I first contacted you about your 2009 Lotus Elise SC on Ebay, I asked quite a few pertinent questions about the car. I was very happy with your knowledge of said car, as this was to be my 3rd Lotus. Each car has its points of concern and you were well versed with the issues I asked.

The point you made, that put me at rest, was the fact that if I didn't think the car was represented 100%, I was free to return it. Nobody does that!

So, the delivery you arranged with the carrier was perfect. The driver, was a stand up person, we stayed in contact via cell phone meeting at a mall where he had reasonable room to unload.

Please feel free to give my name and contact info to any potential customers, as I can't praise you enough for a very smooth transaction.

I was able to clock 100 miles before the snow arrived, waiting for spring.

Sincerely,

Guy S. Bradt
